

RAKHI CELEBRATION WITH TINY TOTS!

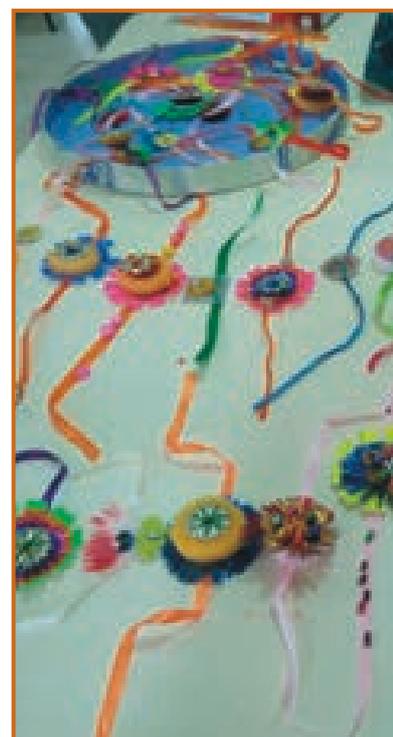

The day started with the welcoming of children from Sadbhavna and SOS Village followed by our regular morning prayer. The young children were full of energy and enthusiasm, looking forward to another interesting session by Sadbhavna. The children got really excited and had a big smile on when they were told that today they will be celebrating 'Rakshabandhan' with the Newgen Family.

The children were briefed about the festival of Rakshabandhan and why everywhere in India it is celebrated with joy and jubilation. This day was well spent as the children got to learn the true meaning of the beautiful and endearing relationship shared between brothers and sisters. It also encouraged them to spread brotherhood in the entire community. The children were given colors, paints, sheets and were asked to make Rakhi Cards - something that they love to do. It helped instill creativity and free thinking in the young minds of the tiny tots. The children made colorful cards for their 'bhaiyas' and 'didis' in Newgen (volunteers), who are constantly contributing to their good education and well-being. Full of dedication and excitement, the children came up with amazing ideas for the cards.

The celebration then continued with the Rakhi making competition among 25 little angels, divided in groups of 5. The children were provided material for Rakhi making and were asked to be as creative as they can be, to boost their imagination and creativity. The results amazed one and all! Children made a bunch of wonderful Rakhis and enjoyed the session to the core. The session not only stimulated their creativity and imagination but also enhanced key skills such as Team work, Time Management, Coordination and Cooperation and a sense of healthy competition—skills that are essential at every stage of life!

Each group displayed their colorful and vibrant Rakhis on the tablet. Later, all the children were offered sweets as a token of love from Mrs. Dushyant, an active volunteer of Sadbhavna who also sponsored the material for Rakhimaking.

- Aakanksha Tiwari (Volunteer- CSR)

Designed By: Asma Kapoor

FOLLOW US ON:

