

Modifying Ways of teaching for NDDP Sessions

The motto of our NDDP program is to make learning fun. With this aim, we planned to do away with boring teaching methods and introduce something new.

In our recent sessions instead of teaching students about a topic, we asked them to explain the topic. And, we would ask them questions to deep dive further into the topic. This helped us gauge the students' level of understanding about a particular topic and made the sessions more interactive.

Post the discussion, we used audiovisuals to educate students about the topic for better recall. The students were excited and said that such discussions help them in clarifying their doubts and apply learnings better. They are enjoying learning this way and are also becoming confident to speak on a topic in front of other students.

Anam Choudhary
(Facilitator - CSR)

